whereas the medications do not act on allergens, they could help reduce eye inflammation and other symptoms you might be experiencing.